WELCOME TO SKAGWAY

Skagway is located at the northernmost point on the Inside Passage in Southeast Alaska. Directly behind the town are majestic peaks of the Coast Mountains. The area around present-day Skagway was once inhabited by Tlingit Indians. "Skagua" was the Tlingit name and means "the place where the north wind blows". Today, Skagway still retains the feel of those Gold Rush days. The historic downtown has largely been restored to its roots, complete with false-fronted buildings and wooden sidewalks. The population of Skagway is approximately 862 local residents. Many of the local residents appear in their shops with turn-of-the-century costumes. The city primarily relies on tourism with over 700,000 tourists visiting the city each year.

IT IS A VIOLATION OF LOCAL LAW TO BRING FRUITS OR VEGETABLES INTO THE UNITED STATES. ANY GUESTS FOUND WITH FOOD WILL BE SUBJECT TO FINES.
